Hello!

My name is Chelsea Hassi, and I am a private citizen of Milwaukee who is concerned about the newly-proposed data center at Midtown. I do not work in any area related to the center, so I won't pretend to have data on things like the environmental effect on the neighborhood. But I know there are many, from light and sound pollution, to heat pollution. It also causes a major drain of resources.

From what I've heard from residents in the area, most do not want this. In a world where profits are more and more often being prioritized over people, this proposal is not an investment in our community. It is, rather, a profit-driven, resource-draining eyesore that is being dressed up to look like a community space. It is unclear how this will be reflected on our taxes, and there doesn't seem to be any plan to offset those environmental and resource detriments.

Since the Sherman Park area is more low-income, it is also clear to residents that some of our most disenfranchised community members will suffer for this build, on top of taxpayers on a wider scale. This is not what leadership is about, and this is not how a community takes care of itself.

We ask you to do better.
