

Principal Project Manager •

Chris Hau, Associate AIA

Joined Quorum Architects in 1996

Became Principal in 2006

Experience •

As Principal Project Manager, Chris has been involved in many aspects of each project. These include: existing conditions documentation, space programming, project design, construction documents, and client contact. Chris is involved in the review of existing buildings to understand the constraints and benefits they may offer to incorporate the overall design. Because of his thorough understanding of the design process, Chris is able to create design solutions within strict budgets and schedule. His attention to detail assists in effectively and efficiently managing multiple projects.

Chris' project experience includes, tenant improvements for corporate offices (law firms, professional services companies, government agencies), office buildings, office condo buildings, adaptive reuse buildings including historic preservation projects.

Chris has extensive experience including the most current version of Autodesk's® Design Suite. He utilizes this system in the production of existing conditions plans, space plans, and detailed construction documents. He also trains other personnel in the usage of CAD systems and specialized programming techniques. Chris coordinates Quorum Architect's computer system and is conversant with the Microsoft Office Suite and the Adobe Creative Suite.

As a whole, our firm practices sustainable design in all our projects. Chris contributes with his knowledge of environmentally sensitive materials and systems and integrates them into the design process.
