Alderwoman Coggs

I honestly hate to be the one complaining about our neighborhood bar but I have tried to be accommodating to these Thursday night jamborees at 502 but they keep larger and larger and those attending are getting bolder and bolder in fringing onto our (or my personal space).

I've had to weekly argue with people parking across or partially across my driveway. When I bring it up to 502 staff they will announce it and vehicles will move only to have us (my 84 yr old mom and i) to physically have to sit outside to keep drivers clear. A number of times folks have offered money when I ask them to not block but I've never accepted this offer.

I'm not saying me nor some of my family and friends haven't partaken in these Thursday nights occasionally (sitting on my upper deck) but the constant convergence of hundreds of people is overwhelming.

I had to ask people off my front yard space including the walkway leading to my front door. Last night while up on my deck some guy didn't notice me and decided it was okay to relieve himself in my hostas near the front of my house. He cut it short and apologized once I yelled at him. I had to ask motorcyclists to get off my sidewalk (they commonly use 502 sidewalk so they thought it was okay to do the same across the street apparently).

I've included _____ in this email because cars and trucks have been squeezing through her gates to have access to her parking lot which gets full on Thursday nights. I'm sorry but these events get larger each week.

Directly across from me on the northeast corner a group bought their own 8' ft table and set up liquor bottles and a hookah and stayed there all evening so as stated previously it is moving beyond the borders of 502.

Attached is several photos and you can see hundreds are gathered. This is weekly and is getting too huge in my perspective:

I'm not sure what is the solution as Mr Currie does his best to control the situation but he can't control the traffic nor those events that occur beyond his barriers that are erected.

Respectfully submitted,
