Martha Freeman was born July 20th 1938, in Gainesville, GA; mother of 5 children who are very supportive. Their lives have changed, as many of ours have.

Mama Freeman, as everyone calls her, was educated the Milwaukee Public School (MPS) system. She also attended the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. As an adult, she has always worked more than one job at a time. She worked best at jobs helping others: crossing guard, middle school teacher for emotionally disturbed and delinquent children, director of a residential treatment center, private detective for a criminal defense attorney, and finally retiring after 20 years as an officer/sergeant from the Milwaukee County House of Correction.

Martha (Mama) Freeman moved to the Garden Homes neighborhood in 1969. Many of us remember her bringing pillow cases from her house for our sack races, buying watermelons for contests; we made a stage and the runway was from her house to the park, where we would have talent shows and style shows. Summer evenings, she would make peanut butter and jelly sandwiches after we had prayer and bible study. Her porch became our outdoor theatre. She would also read and act out stories. She knew an instructor who owned a ranch. The instructor would let her bring us to West Bend to ride the horses and see all the animals. Only those who had homework and chores completed, and didn't fight were allowed to go. She would always take groups of us with large bags through the neighborhood to clean up. There were times when we would help elderly people clean their yards and go to the store for them. Today, she provides donated bread, doughnuts, and cakes from Sara Lee along with prayers to people in the neighborhood and she continues to try and keep us in line.

When some of us were sent to The House of Correction, we were ashamed to let her see us. I can remember times when she would take guns and car keys. One young man, who is now a minister and goes to many institutions, was going to shoot a man. She took his gun and talked to him about Jesus. Another young man was sharing story about how he was on his way to shoot someone; she took his keys and gun. She is famous for driving her car in the middle of crap games and fights. The street named Port Sunlightway was known as "Prostitute Way," is empty now. She would sit in a chair on that street and turn their customers away.

By naming Port Sunlight Way after her, we hope, will remind those of us who continue to live here and those who have moved away that someone cared enough to help get our neighborhood back together. Hopefully, some of us will want to follow in her footsteps and help to make our Garden Homes neighborhood the best it can be. Good people=Good families=Good communities.

Black women speak at Y W C A conference

"The Black Woman Speaks .. to Everyone," an all-day conference, sponsored by the YWCA Racial Justice committee, in cooperation with the Institute of Human Relations, UWM, will be held at the Down-town YWCA, 610 N. Jackson st., on Saturday, March 21, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The conference, open to the public, will provide an opportunity for Black women to speak to the issues of our time - education, housing and welfare - and to help develop a more inclusive concept of these issues.

Three Black women who have been involved in community action will keynote the conference. They are: Mrs. Jessie Kennedy, district superintendent of Detroit Public Schools; Mrs. Joan Brown, director of Racial Justice, YWCA Metropolitan Chicago; and Mrs. Jean King, housewife, active in housing, St. Louis, Mo.

As a follow-up to the speakers, workshops will be held on education, welfare and housing. Under the education workshop, emphases will be on: the black conditions in public instruction; university attitude toward Black students; school board representation; and bi-cultural education; welfare: rights of the welfare recipients; the budget; client-case worker relationship; employment opportunities; housing; availability of housing; landlord-tenant relationships; public housing and land acquisition.

Black art, fashions and literature will be on display and for sale in the YWCA lobby.

Local Black women who have agreed to act as resource people for the workshops include:

Lucinda Gordon
Jean Robinson,
Pitts, Barbara
Ebo, LeMay
and Lorraine
Wynn, Flora S.
Bryant, Debbie

Mrs. Martha Freeman, mother of five who lives at 4323 N. 26th st., has been awarded an $895 scholarship from Salestraining of Milwaukee, inc. It was the first time in this company's history that the scholarship has been awarded to a woman. William Whittaker, a company representative, recommended Mrs. Freeman for the award.

Measles, polio shots offered

On Sunday, March 15, the Milwaukee Health Department measles-oral polio clinics at Keenan Health Center, 2200 N. 36 street, and at the Northwest Health Center, 7630 W. Mill road, will offer measles and oral polio immunizations to city children. The clinics will be open from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Measles immunizations are offered to city children one through nine years of age who have not had measles immunizations. This immunization prevents measles but not German measles which is a different disease.

Children six weeks through seventeen years of age who have not been immunized to prevent polio may receive the oral polio immunization.

Only one immunization may be received on one day. There is no charge for immunizations at the Sunday clinics although donations will be accepted.

Recognition Event –Sterling Milwaukee Honoring Achievers Over 60

Dear Ms. Freeman:

Congratulations! You have been selected by a panel of judges from the Mature Worker Committee of Greater Milwaukee as recipient of the "Spirit of Work Award for 2008." Each winner will be presented with a personalized remembrance, a small gift of appreciation, free lunch as well as be entered into a drawing for a wonderful door prize.

We would like to honor you as well as the other winners and honorees at a recognition luncheon, on Wednesday, September 24 at the Alverno Conference Center, 3400 S 43rd St. We ask that you arrive at 11:00 a.m. for registration. The program will begin at 11:30 a.m. and end at approximately 1:30 p.m.

There is no cost to you thanks to the generous support of our corporate sponsors. However, you are welcome to invite friends and relatives to celebrate with you ($35 per person). Because we need to place luncheon orders by September 17, we ask that you complete the registration form enclosed and indicate if you will be bringing any family or friends.

On behalf of the entire Mature Worker Committee, we extend our sincerest congratulations. We look forward to seeing you at the event on September 24.

SPIRIT OF WORK

Martha Freeman, Correctional Sergeant

Age: 70

Milwaukee County House of Corrections

Nominated by Marsha Spells, Crystal Freeman, and Tina Johnson-Williams

From Crystal Freeman

My Mom is the most dedicated person that I know not only to her job but to her family and others outside of her family. She is a 70 year old single mother that is still employed for not just 40 hours a week but sometimes more. My Mom is able to work two and sometimes three shifts in a single day. She is also a Pastor of a church, which she is the founder of. Working for the Department of Corrections is very challenging at times but she is able to stand at the end of a day. When asked if she plans to retire her answer is, "For what?"

From Marsha Spells

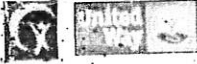

She is always willing to assist where help is needed without being asked. She has become a person that others depend on for encouragement. Her positive attitude toward people and situations help create a great work environment in such a stressful job. Sergeant Freeman is respected by staff as well as inmates.

From Tina Johnson-Williams

She has a way with words, when you're discouraged she seasons the words with the flavor they need to lift a heavy heart. When you're uplifted and happy about being blessed, you feel her genuine joy for you and your blessings.

(Max. 300 Words)

Ms. Martha Freeman, Pastor Martha Freeman, Sergeant M. Freeman, Mother, Grandmother and friend. Ms. Freeman is my co worker and over the last 13 years I have come to know her as more than just a co worker. She is always willing to assist where help is needed without being asked. She has become a person that myself, and others depend on for encouragement whether it's a personal matter or business. Her positive attitude toward people and situations help create a great work environment, in such a stressful job. Sergeant Freeman is respected by staff as well as inmates. She has just turned 70 years of age on July 20th 2008. She does not skip a beat and, is very alert. She continues to work and there is no sign of her retiring I truly hope that as I age I can

H.O.P.E. BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE

June, 1989

THE VANGUARDS

TROUBLED YOUTH IN THE CITY

"I feel like a Jeremiah weeping for them. I love them." Martha Freeman has a burden and call from the Lord for troubled youth and families in crisis, working with some of the toughest kids in the city. A teacher since 1974, for the past five years, she's been the program director of a continuing education program at Juneau Academy which houses youth who have been convicted of an offense, but haven't been sent to a reformatory.

A 50-year-old mother of 5, grandmother of 11, and great-grandmother of 1, Martha's house in the central city has been a place of refuge and comfort since she became a Christian 14 years ago. Nightly she leads family devotions for her kids and grand kids as well as the neighborhood children. Sometimes as many as 20 youth congregate in her living room, and the backdoor is always open to them.

There was a time when I couldn't have a dirty house. I put all my energy into keeping it clean. Now my heart is a house of prayer, and that's where the housecleaning is done so I can be effective in my prayers.

As a young Christian, I was pretty bold about sharing my faith with the kids at the Academy. I not only took them to church on Sunday and WVCY youth rallies, but even used the bible once as a textbook in the classroom, reading the Gospel of John. In fact, I got fired for teaching kids to pray. However, the director said he didn't feel right about firing me for loving kids, so he gave me 6 weeks leave of absence with pay. In the meantime, MPS wanted the Academy to start a day treatment center and my boss said my name was the only one that came up for program director. That was five years ago.

When I was fired from the job, I told the kids to pray for me, and they saw the fruit of their prayers. The whole incident was a witness to them that the Lord provides for His children, because I got a better job from the firing and never had financial loss. Since then, I've found ways of lifting up the Lord and yet respecting the people I work for.

I don't think these kids want to be in trouble. In their minds, the whole world is against them and no one cares. When you grow up that way, it's hard to see the truth. These kids are children of fear. Many of them are bedwetters and thumb suckers, but the Lord can erase those fears. I tell these hurting children about His love. He sends His Word and heals us.

I have a prayer ledger where I keep the list of kids to pray for, and record as the Lord answers my prayers. Whenever I can, I pray with the kids and their families. Sometimes they come to me at midnight. I told one girl who came into my house, defiant and cocky, that "from this day forward I am going to wage a war against you. I am going to pray for you." The girl kept coming back and I told the Lord that it seemed He was doing more work in me than her as I prayed, giving me a heart to love her. When she got in trouble a few years ago, I went to court and testified for her. She was so surprised that I would do that for her.

God is faithful in the midst of the hurt and trouble. Sometimes it's pretty close to home, when my own kids have gotten into serious trouble. There's so much spiritual warfare, and the evil one has brought mighty attacks against us. The woman Martha had been praying for came in during our second visit, and talked about why she keeps coming back. She said, "I've come in here often out of severe madness in the streets, and I know it's a place of comfort. I've been coming since I was 9, and now I'm 26.

Everybody knows this is God's house, and most of the time I don't want to come in here. Someday I think I won't be able to get out and return to my life. I know she doesn't approve of the choices I've made, but she never turns me away."

THE VIGILANTES

TROUBLED YOUTH IN THE SCHOOLS

"Social change won't work. They must become a new creation."

Odell White and Mike Shaw, Christian ex-offenders, talk with troubled youth in the Milwaukee schools as special seminar speakers, working under the auspices of Project Focus, a program of Self-Help of Wisconsin. They talk "straight" to youth involved in gangs, drug dealing or using, getting them to realize the cons of the bad life. Both of them also work as counselors with adjudicated youth at the Ultra School, a day treatment program for Lad Lake Home for Boys. Below Odell talks about their ministry.

We're not counselors when we go into the schools, but living testimonies of changed lives. We've been the gamut of the bad life and we know what these kids have waiting for them.

EVALUATION OF MARTHA FREEMAN

Ms. Freeman is one of those rare individuals who can touch the heart of any person. She will always find some good in each individual and work relentlessly to help that person realize their full potential.

Ms. Freeman is concerned with all aspects of a student's life; educational, social, and religious. She is an excellent teacher and structures her classroom to incorporate activities that provide experiences that are physically, mentally, and spiritually beneficial.

Ms. Freeman is always punctual and provides her students with quality instruction. She is extremely proficient in knowing where each student is functioning academically and provides each person with relevant tasks to assure that learning takes place.

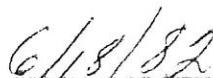

Ms. Freeman gives beyond what is necessary and extends her concern and warmth outside the classroom. She is constantly helping her students and their families cope with situations that could be very detrimental. She will do anything within her means to make sure her students have the basic necessities to sustain life.

This card is just something I've had on my mind for a while. I'm better at writing than speaking so - I thought I'd let you know what kind of person you are. I admire you because you are a God-fearing woman, but you're not a punk either. You - besides one other Gaurd was the only to treat me with respect. Some tend to forget that I'm human + have feelings. You never forgot + that's why I'm thanking you. I hope I never see you again - I mean that in a good way. Take care + I hope God blesses you in every way possible.

Dear Ms. Freeman.

I am a recent inmate of the House Of Correction. It does not matter if you remember me, just that I have the opportunity to thank you. While I was there, I could not help but to notice the positive influence you had upon the inmates of the institution. I was impressed with your kindness and your faithfulness to the Lord. It had bewildered me as to why your choosen profession was a gawrd in the girls dorm of the HOC.

After a few days of observing your ways I realized God must have something to do with it. Most other guards had seemed hardened and intolerant with the other inmates. As I had observed your strength and conviction for the good Lord, I realized how very fortunate the HOC was to have you as a part their staff. Even more so, I found myself very fortunate to have had the opportunity to be under that same influence .

You see, I have always loved the Lord, but had strayed from the path God had choosen for me. Under your influence, I was reminded of that love I held for the Lord. Also, I had known I did not have the strenght to return to that path myself. I had prayed for what seemed like forever, but nothing had brought me back to the good book and most of all the good Lord. I'm am confident that is why things worked out as they did, without your direct knowledge, you are the one that put be back in the right direction. You are a good and faithful seruent of the Lord and that encourage me to pick up the bible again and find what I had been missing for so long. The good Lord in my life. The Lord did answer my prayers, because he put you in my life. Because of you I am back on the path that I have desired for so long. Thank-You Ms. Freeman for treating me with respect and kindness. I thank the Lord every day for this and I will never forget you. ☺
