The Open Pantry on Oakland and Hartford is planning on expanding their current location to accommodate a rental space for commercial suitors, namely a Quiznos or other fast-food operator. Open Pantry has purchased the property directly north of the existing building and plan to tear it down and construct an addition to their space. In order to do this, they have to get a rezoning permit to change the property from residential to commercial. Many residents in the community are opposed to this expansion for several reasons.

- We are against losing a home in our community.
- We do not want another fast-food chain taking away from locally owned and operated businesses.
- An increase in traffic will aggravate an already dangerous intersection as well as increase noise and litter in the area.
- Proper notification of the rezoning meetings was not offered to the neighborhood so that they could voice their opinion.
