Hi Linda! Hope your day is going well. ☐
Could you please share this?

Thanks!

I recently discovered this EXCELLENT website that provides current and prospective teachers with free online courses in early literacy practices. But after looking through the courses (which are all videos), I believe this falls in line with one of the things we need for parents. I would love to see something like this shown in the recovery room post delivery before or after a survey, and any other space we deem fit for use.

Enjoy the rest of your day!
