Education

1. Incentivize young people to stay in Milwaukee for college
  - Devote more resources to scholarships, grants, ACT prep, training
    - Pre-college programs (e.g. Upward Bound) does this already. Do we fund them more or create separate similar programs at other colleges?
    - We lose a lot of students to the PEOPLE program in Madison. Why do students choose this program over similar pre-college programs in Milwaukee?
      - This could also be a way of attracting students from the rest of Wisconsin, not just Milwaukee
  - Offer free or discounted tuition to students enrolling in universities within same state of residence
    - A version of the PEOPLE program would do this
  - Offer more scholarships and a city pool discounted rate for local students
2. Expose young people to non-traditional career pathways available in Milwaukee
  - a. Does “non-traditional career pathways” refer to the trades or other career pathways that don’t need a college degree?
  - Implement this as part of school curriculums
    - a. MPS does this already, other private/charter schools do as well
      - i. For example, Bradley Tech High School, Milwaukee High School of the Arts
        - 1. How do we shine light on these schools? Do parents/students know these schools have certain programs?
        - 2. How is what we are doing now unsatisfactory?
3. Improve the college experience, implement curriculums to teach students about Milwaukee job possibilities, and expose them to the city
  - a. Possible partnership between HERA, NEWaukee, The Commons to offer up “Milwaukee” curriculum that colleges could implement.
