ARTIST STATEMENT

"My photographs are snapshots of my invisible diary that I open up to the world for mass interpretation. The pieces that I share are birthed from human emotions everyone can identify with. They carry heavy contrast, faint light and an unspoken message. I do not classify myself as a specific type of photographer because my specification is subject to my perception as the artist and the interpretation of the beholder. I believe that being an artist is less of a task or a facade that one masquerades in but rather a lifestyle that is a natural trait in which you operate, no matter what specific artistic medium is chosen. I think in photographs, constantly scanning the same area and finding at least three different shots to keep myself sharp. I am constantly taking pictures even when I do not carry the tool of a camera. I am an artist before I am anything else in relation to photography I desire to be a lover of my art, not only a businessman. Lastly, I believe that my life is a work of art that is yet to be documented but once my life comes to an end, my final work of art will be completed once all of my pictures are pieced together in museums of the world or in the museum of someone's heart. Art doesn't imitate life. Art is a reflection of life. Therefore, ARTLife. If I am not making you think, then I am not doing my job. Art is a fruit of my process but it's deeper than art. The root of the fruit is revolution of the soul."

QUOTE

"The reason I am an asset to any organization or company is that I am blindly driven with ambition to see the company succeed, as in I'll treat it like it is my own company & put forth the effort of a true chief, which is to lead by example & hard work."
