my claim is for damage to my car, cause by ice build up and water run off in the subdivision where I live. Starting with the city not having the snow removed right and the sewer cover over. It formed a bed of ice about 8" to 10" with pot hole. People coming and going into the subdivision would, bottom out there car.

We have call a number of time, about the ice build up. The first time someone was coming out to look at it, the next time our aldermen, make a call and a salt truck come out. It did, no good because it real back up. We also asked, some city worker to open up the street, who was working on a water main break in the subdivision, said no because he need a work order, because it would go into over time.
