Dear Mr. Owczarski,

My name is Jordan Thomas, and I am a rising Sophomore at University School of Milwaukee. I am a hard-working student with a 4.15 GPA, who is captivated by medicine and biological sciences. Due to these interests, I am enrolled in the StEP-UP program at the Medical College of Wisconsin, which will expose me to medical and biological science careers and the various processes involved in those professions. Along with my interest in medicine, I aspire to play a beneficial role in my community along with other students. Therefore, I applied to the Milwaukee Youth Council, a program that will provide an opportunity for me to help my community, and allow me to collaborate with other students who also have a passion for improving their neighborhood and surrounding areas. Furthermore, I am beginning my 2nd year as a member of the Milwaukee Youth Symphony Orchestra. I have been playing violin since 2nd grade, and it has become a source of relaxation and contributes toward my goal-driven mindset.

If I am a part of the Milwaukee Youth Council, I will express myself fervently and positively, and will give beneficial contributions to the council. For example, for my World Civilizations exam, we simulated a world conference, where each student was a diplomat from a specific country. The goal of the exam was to create and contribute to at least two joint resolutions with other students/countries, and have them accepted into the world conference. Of the five joint resolutions created by the students in the class, I created and contributed to three of them, where I played a vital role in ensuring we were considered in our simulated conference. The diligent work ethic I presented in my class can be advantageous when working with the council members, and can be key when we are trying to solve problems and execute our goals. Thank you for reaching out to me, and providing me the opportunity to offer more information about myself.

Sincerely,
Jordan Thomas
