Riley Andrews – Director of Operations/Papertable Co. was present as well.

Atty. Gimbel said that they were here two years ago and adopted a proposal on how to deal traffic patterns on both sides of the street, with parking guidelines being followed up for the past 2 years. He added that Papertable Co. (building owner) just found out that there were objections on file when they filed a sidewalk dining license application and that it was withdrawn in order to discuss the issues with Ald. Bauman. He added that for the first time, Ald. Bauman suggested some solutions on the hallway that they have not had a chance to consider yet. He said that the valet drivers are also causing a problem there and recognized that some drivers park on the loading zones areas for longer periods.

Ald. Bauman said that the business model creates significant parking issues with most of the business being for delivery. He said that he has seen vehicles double parked on both sides of street, with engines running and doors open while the drivers pick up food from there, that there is a parking chaos, that the street has been blocked up even at lunch time when there are no valet drivers operating. He added that he has Papertable know that he is in opposition of any license until this matter is resolved and that the current plan is not working. He also clarified that loading zones are not exclusive and are available to anyone to load and unload.

Individuals in objection:

Matthew PagenKopf – (Luxury Valet employee) said that this business has created an unsafe environment for him and his valet coworkers, he added that a delivery driver with no license plates pulled out a gun to him to intimidate him. He also said that drivers even block the street.

Ricky Lea (Manages Luxury Valet on Milwaukee St.) – said that delivery trucks cannot use the loading zones because they are taken by the delivery drivers for longer periods. He added that he understands that everybody needs to make money but that restaurant customers cannot use the loading zones because of the delivery drivers.

Ricky recognized that Martha (Papertable traffic monitor) is out there frequently.

The witness said that about a hundred.

Marts Hemminger – 718 N Milwaukee St/Carnevor – said that he has a letter from all the businesses on the block and that this location is not a good fit for this type of business. He added that he supports the idea to new solutions and that delivery drivers have not license plates, push the horn and stay longer periods.

Heidi Meier - 741 N Milwaukee St #503 – said that she lives in the south of the building where the Papertable kitchen is, and that the smell is unbearable the entire day and night. She also said that she has lived there since 2001, that they cannot longer use their balconies neither open the windows day/night to get fresh air into their condominiums. She added that she is here representing the condominium's board and that they do not support the renewal.

John Tysen – 715 N Milwaukee St - said that he has operated his barber shop for 12 years now and that things were manageable with the valet companies prior Papertable's arrival. He added that he just spoke to Riley and he was told that Martha is oversighting the parking situation. He also said that he wants businesses to succeed but the plan is unsustainable and that an accident is waiting to happen.

Individuals in support:

David Cohn – 1108 N Milwaukee #261 – said that it is a very complicated operation with many parties involved and that he talked to the Papertable owners last week about solutions like to ban unlicensed drivers. He added that he is not opposing to this particular license but to the whole Papertable operation.

The applicant said that he started his business a year ago, that he has 20 employees, that his license expired last week and that he has been closed since then. He said that most of his business is for delivery and that he decided to close down just to sort this situation out. He added that they are not different from a Domino's Pizza operation, that Papertable invested in a locker technology and that they are looking for a solution for this matter which is not under his control.

Riley Andrews – Director of Operations/Papertable Table – offered a presentation to committee members and said that they have seen changes on the street with more valet parking stations, that other businesses are also using delivery partners' services and that there is an increase of business activities after the pandemic. She added that there is a large documentation of different parking situations to prove that they are addressing issues and that they submit complaints to the third party delivery companies. She said that they are working on a GEO fencing around the facility to prevent drivers from sitting around for another order. She also said that they have been taking the loss because they are not taking more applicants until a solution is reached.

Ald. Zamarripa asked how they want to have more tenants if with three businesses they have these problems.

Martha Salazar – Parking Monitor – said that they see problems with delivery drivers, that they talk to them and most of them listen, that they also file complaints with the delivery parties and call parking enforcement but they do not come soon enough. She added that it is easier when the valet parking is not operating and that the cones placed on the street are also creating a problem with patrons double parked waiting for the valet service.

Ald. Bauman said that the plan from two years ago is not working and that Ald. Zamarripa's suggestion about hiring food runners is a good idea. He added that this company does not want to hire a local manager, that he does not think that Ms. Andrews can manage +30 locations nationwide remotely and that it seems that the company does not want to invest in human resources. He asked the committee to deny this license in order to get some attention.

Atty. Gimbel said that this business should not be taken as a hostage and that Papertable should be working on the solutions.

Ald. Jackson moved approval with a warning letter and said that this model business is unsustainable and that he cannot imagine the problem with a total of 19 businesses there. (Prevailed 3-2)
