Do you need workers? Goodwill WorkNOW! can help

What is the Goodwill WorkNOW! Project?

Goodwill was selected by the State of Wisconsin to participate in a Transitional Jobs Demonstration Project. Employers can receive subsidies for hiring transitional workers which means the Goodwill WorkNOW! project can provide staffing solutions at greatly reduced costs for your business.

Have you been awarded a new contract, are you experiencing a surge in production; or expanding your business?

If so, you can take advantage of wage subsidies for up to six months per qualified transitional jobs worker when you utilize a Goodwill WorkNOW! worker. The bottom line, we make it easy for you to get the help you need – there are no complicated contracts or piles of forms to complete, or long-term commitments required.

What opportunities does Goodwill WorkNOW! offer your business?

You need employees – we have workers. We are able to combine the training and support services Goodwill is known for, along with the resources of Goodwill TalentBridge, our own professional recruiting and placement firm, to provide you with the right employees to meet your business needs. We provide contract (temporary) personnel at significantly reduced rates for up to 6 months per qualified employee. Also, there are no transition (temp-to-hire) fees if you choose to hire a transitional jobs worker.

Goodwill WorkNOW! transitional jobs workers have completed up to 8 days of training prior to being placed in your company, and they have been pre-screened to match your company qualifications and requirements, including pre-employment drug screens. Our goal is to make it easy for you to do business with us, and get great talent as well.

What is the Goodwill WorkNOW! difference?

The individuals placed in your company are our employees, not yours. That means we take on all of the payrolling, taxes, record-keeping, employee relationship management and reporting, not you.

When will the Goodwill WorkNOW! Project Start?

The Goodwill WorkNOW! Project is scheduled to begin placing qualified individuals into employment opportunities by mid-October, 2010.
