

I, Michael Hoffenberg, on one of my first shifts working at Bootleggers as a bartender left for the evening through the rear exit of the restaurant. I can not recall the exact date but it was in June of 2008. As I was leaving a co-worker told me to be careful because the neighbors were throwing bottles at employees and patrons leaving the establishment. As I left the building I saw one of our employee trainers, Jessica Tillson, and began to speak with her. We were standing behind the spice house building right next to her residence which was at the time in the building where Tutto resides. As we were talking, I noticed people screaming on the patio of the 2nd floor of the spice house residences. One voice said, "Dude, he's peeing on your car!" I looked around and noticed that Jessica and I were the only 2 people in the vicinity and neither of us were urinating. As that happened, Josh (Old German Beer Hall GM) approached me and started mumbling words which I couldn't understand. He was showing obvious signs of intoxication. He was nodding to a blue BMW. At the point I noticed 4 other gentleman walking down the patio steps toward me and Jessica, one of them carrying a golf club. Jessica then said 'let's go inside before something bad happens.' We went through the back door of her building and stayed there for about 10 minutes.

 Michael Hoffenberg

On this 17th day of Dec. Michael Hoffenberg stood before  a Notary for the State.
 Katarsha Mathis
 Dec 17-9-2017

I, Josh Hurley, on May 30th 2008 was a guest of Bootleggers Milwaukee. I was standing in front of Bootleggers with Ryan Wentz and Jim O'Meara when a gentleman approached us who was visibly intoxicated and began yelling at Ryan and Jim. He was screaming how he did not want the business to be on this street. Ryan and Jim tried to logically speak with this gentleman and he continued to go on about how he did not want the business here. After this went on for a few minutes the gentleman stormed off down the street. Ryan and Jim told me that the gentleman's name was Andrew Wagner and that he lived in one of the apartments next door at the Spice House.

Josh Hurley

ON THIS 17TH DAY OF DECEMBER I, JOSH HURLEY
stood before Latarsha Mathis a Notary
for the state.

2-17-08

I, Adam T. Reed, while working as Floor Mgr for Bootleggers Milwaukee, immediately responded to a situation on the patio around 1:45 AM on . I was told that on 3rd floor patio of the adjacent apartment next to our building, there were several people shouting profanities and throwing beer bottles at our wait staff in their effort to close down the patio of Bootleggers. When I first got on scene, there were several beer cans and beer bottles that had shattered in the area. I looked over the rooftop to the apt complex, and saw 8-10 people including Josh (owner/operator of German Beer hall), drinking and socializing on the patio. I did not receive any type of look or reaction when I gazed at them.

At this time I began walking towards the enclosed part of our patio to talk with the bartenders about the situation, when a bottle came up and over the railing onto our patio, landed and smashed about 25 ft behind me. At this time I informed the staff on the patio to stay away from the back side of the building, away from their patio, and come downstairs as soon as possible. I then proceeded to tell our general manager at the time, Jim O'Meara, who was now on scene, what had just happened.

This was not the first or last of events that involved the people that lived in the 3rd floor apt or Josh from German Beer Hall. On several instances in the first 3-4 months of operation, Josh had verbally abused the staff of Bootleggers and our patrons. This was usually done later in the evening when Josh would become intoxicated, and harass our staff at the front door, including myself and Jim. Also, they would harass and throw things at staff and patrons after they exited our bar. This either happened out in front of the bar, or in the alley way in between our buildings.

Sincerely,

Adam T. Reed

Subscribed and sworn to before me
 this 17th day of December 20 09
Mary Johnson
 My Commission Expires 10/03/2010

I, Josh Hurley, Michael Hoffenberg, and Trina Klemeneic (We), can verify that Erin MacDonald is the girlfriend of Josh, the manager of the Old German Beer Hall (OGBH). We have all witnessed Erin on multiple occasions walking into Josh of the OGBH's apartment located on the second floor of the Spice House building and also holding hands and kissing. This is also common knowledge within the street.

Josh Hurley

Michael Hoffenberg

Trina Klemeneic

