Tim,

I got a response from the former owner of Cuyuga Brick and he does not have near enough brick to do the portion we are replacing.

I have enclosed his response.

-Rick,

Researched our inventory and unfortunately those brick I sent you a photo of-that I only have about 400 of is the only thing I have close in color and size. The only other option would be a red brick and only 8" long-with no texture. I will take another look in my travels throughout the bone yard but most of what we have left is only 7 5/8" long by 2 1/4".

Sincerely,
Eric Swartz-----

Dear Mr. Langdon,

We have come across bricks that are a closer match than what you proposed. The current owner of the abandoned Acme Brick factory in Indiana was able to find a match in size and color with a slightly different texture (see attached). It will be our recommendation to the Commission that you use these bricks for the repairs to the duplex.

This is the contact information for the current owner of the Acme factory. Please make your own arrangements to acquire the bricks.
