Black Male Achievement Advisory Council	For Boys and Men of Color, there are a series of barriers preventing them from achieving their full potential such as personal transportation, job readiness training, access to affordable healthcare, and housing resources just to name a few. There are amazing programs and services that exist throughout the city to aid them in overcoming these barriers, but there is a lack in accessing these resources. As a result, there is a prominent need to mobilize these resources to get our boys and men of color access to these opportunities that were once out of reach. The core service of the “Mobile Resource Center” will not only target and serve boys and men of color, but will also be a resource for families and young people that provides comprehensive resources and a referral system. The Mobile Center Resource Specialists will cultivate family and community well-being through collaborations with community organizations and informational materials.	Funded Youth Justice Milwaukee Mobile Resource Center
Black Male Achievement Advisory Council	Enhance Alma Center's capacity to support African American men on healing from trauma through Intensive Trauma Resolution (ITR) program.	Funded ALMA Center
Black Male Achievement Advisory Council	Create BMAAC's data collection within the MBK Action Plan to provide a basis for research and analysis for BMAAC and MBK.	Funded Center for Self Sufficiency
