Applicant at the table with a translator, Ricardo Montes, Jr. Ald. Bauman is at the table as well.

Atty. Eric Schoonmaker, counsel for the applicant, is also at the table.

No neighborhood objectors present when called.

Ald. Bauman says he held a neighborhood meeting at which several individuals approached him with concerns about the tavern. The concerns were about patrons exiting loudly at night, cars speeding off- activities that are disruptive to the neighborhood. Ald. Bauman said that the applicant did not show up at a meeting scheduled with the neighbors. He says he hopes that the applicant will acknowledge the concerns of the neighbors.

Atty. Schoonmaker says he has a petition signed by neighborhood residents, which is not admissible to the committee. Atty. Schoonmaker also says that the applicant said that he never saw any evidence of drug activity in his establishment. He also says that the applicant will try to keep the level of noise in the establishment down and that he plans to go around outside his tavern and pick up litter. The applicant also said, through Mr. Schoonmaker, that he will hire extra security when there is a live band.

Ald. Hamilton says that the applicant's denial of problems is not sufficient when there are documented complaints from neighbors.

Ald. Zielinski wants to know specifics about how the applicant will address noise and litter issues. Mr. Schoonmaker says that the applicant says he is willing to drop down the volume of the music in the establishment and that he will supervise litter pickup more closely.

No neighborhood objectors present when called.

Ald. Donovan mentions that there was compelling neighborhood testimony at the previous Licenses Committee meeting. He also mentions that the applicant was not present at the previous meeting. Ald. Donovan asks why the applicant was not present.

The applicant says that the notice was sent to a previous address after he had moved, where his family still resides. His family did not give him the letter in a timely manner, and he says that when he received the notice a few days after the hearing date he called the License Division.

Ald. Donovan wants a strong message sent that the problems caused by taverns have to end. In addition to drug activity, neighborhood objections include public urination and loud noise when patrons are leaving.

The applicant says that he is trying to help families in the community and is trying to make the changes necessary at the establishment.

Ms. Grill points out that the license expires on October 22, so the establishment will have to be closed until at least October 29th, or maybe longer depending on the committee's recommendation.
