

VITA

WHITNEY M. GOULD
2633 N. Stowell Ave.
Milwaukee, WI 53211

EMPLOYMENT: 1995-2007: Urban landscape writer and architecture critic, The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, specializing in architecture, urban planning, land use and historic preservation; 1984-1995: Editorial writer, The Milwaukee Journal; 1967-1977: environmental writer, The Capital Times (Madison); 1977-1979: writer and editor, University of Wisconsin-Madison Sea Grant Institute; 1979-1984: editorial page editor, The Capital Times.

EDUCATION: BA in art history and German, with honors, University of Wisconsin-Madison; graduate work in art history and architecture, Columbia University; Nieman Fellowship, Harvard University, for study in architectural history and the history of cities.

AWARDS: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Nieman Foundation, Wisconsin Historical Society, Scripps-Howard Foundation, Wisconsin Natural Resources Foundation, Wisconsin Newspaper Association, Milwaukee Press Club, Women in Communications, Wisconsin Trust for Historic Preservation; others.

OTHER ACTIVITY: Board of Visitors, University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Journalism, 2002-2007; member, Madison Landmarks Commission, 1977-1984; lecturer, UW-Madison School of Journalism; lecturer, Poynter Institute, American Press Institute.