Proposal Install two hard-wired accent lights in the front lawn to highlight the house. This will involve 50' of trench in the front lawn. Lights will be hidden from daytime view by existing plantings or new small plants of one of four varieties.

Staff comments This is part of a large project that is combined effort of Near West Side Partners in partnership with Marquette University. The project is called "Brighter Near West Side" and includes providing neighborhood property owners with steeply discounted lighting for an increased perception of security. This includes the house accent lights in this proposal as well the potential for replacement porch fixtures. Amongst other areas, the program will be available to the entirety of the Concordia district during the initial phase and will likely be expanded to the McKinley/Cold Spring historic district.

The group has worked extensively with staff to find fixtures that could be purchased at a bulk rate and be sensitive to the character of the district.

Porch fixtures have been selected for both Queen Anne and Craftsman style buildings and each homeowner will only be offered fixtures appropriate to the style of their building. Additional fixtures remain to be selected for Colonial style properties and for potential expansion of the project area to include McKinley Boulevard.

Staff also succeeded in discouraging the program from offering any carriage lamp posts and going strictly with porch or lawn fixtures. Replacement of historic fixtures will not be permitted under this program. These are planned for staff approval under the ordinary process as minor alterations, but no applications to use the porch fixtures have yet been received.

This is the first of four pending applications for house accent lighting. Approximately five more applications are expected in the near future. Amongst the four applications, both types of staff-approved accent lighting fixtures are proposed.

The initial proposal involved requiring an entire block face to participate with some sort of light fixture. This raised some concern about the effect on the historic districts as a whole, but this requirement has been removed having been found to be impractical. Properties may now participate individually.

The fixtures to be used for this lighting, have the support of staff if the program is approved. Staff believes not all of the screening plants are ideal. Staff recommend the elimination of lemongrass from the program as it would look quite awkward in the middle of a Concordia lawn unless incorporated into a full professionally designed landscape plan. The lemongrass could be acceptable adjacent to the foundations or next to walkways. Staff would like to see a few native species included in the plant selection.

In October, Ald. Bauman and preservation staff conducted a site visit for demonstration of lighting options at two properties on State Street including this one. After seeing the effects in person, staff now recommends approval, with two additional conditions regarding amount of light and where lights should be focused. Recommend HPC Approval

Recommendation

Conditions

If the program and/or this site are approved, the following

1. Inclusion of some native species in the screening plant selection
2. Elimination of the lemongrass as an option
3. Provide and guarantee landscape restoration after trenches are dug for hardwiring the fixtures.
4. Limit illumination options to 400 lumens or fewer in a soft white color tone.
5. Lighting should be focused on architectural features, not anything in the landscape.
