

I would not like them to put up a wood privacy fence. It would take away from the uniqueness of the building and look tacky.

If they want privacy in the yard for certain events they could use tents and take them down when the event is over.

The fence that is up now is attractive and adds to the appearance of the property which a privacy fence would not do.

I know my comments were to be limited to the building but I also know putting up a wooden privacy fence will make it difficult to see traffic going south on Hawley without pulling out in traffic.

I just know I
would not like to look out my window
and see a wooden
fence across the street

Betty A Clark

