

Small PVC pipes will extend through the wall about six inches above these windows—note, the window opening has been covered over with wood. The window air conditioner at this boarded up window will be removed. The PVC pipes will be painted to match the building.