Do not let this project move forward.

Y'all should be old enough to have heard the phrase, "If it's too good to be true..."

Simply look online and see how many people have spoken out about the negative effects these data centers have. Then also look at how many have been voted out of their positions after moving forward against their constituents best interests.

If you took your position to enrich yourself, go ahead and vote yes, but hopefully at some point you had a desire to help your community.

This is the moment to look around at the world we are living in. Realize that you at the very least, have the power to stop things from getting worse. Or you can do what so many in your position have done before. Take the money and ignore those who proclaim to serve.
