Good Morning,

I am writing because our office and Alderwoman Dimitrijevic have received several objections to the Public Entertainment Premises license for instrumental musicians. Past operators at this location have had events and entertainment that upset the quiet enjoyment of the neighborhood

While it is your right to apply for a Public Entertainment Premises license, please be aware that it may be denied due to resident opposition. From the feedback received, it does not appear that there is resistance to the food and alcohol components of your business.

If it is not your intent to provide public entertainment on a regular basis, you may want to consider refining your proposal—for example, limiting entertainment to the earlier hours you are open, such as weekdays until 3 p.m. Alternatively, if entertainment will be very occasional, you could consider applying for temporary permits and withdrawing the Public Entertainment Premises license application. A point of clarification, quiet background music controlled by the owner or an employee of the restaurant is allowed without the need for a license or permit.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if I can provide assistance.

Best regards,
