Vaporizers, E-Cigarettes, and other Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems (ENDS)

Vapes, vaporizers, vape pens, hookah pens, electronic cigarettes (e-cigarettes or ecigs), and e-pipes are some of the many terms used to describe electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS).

These products use a liquid “e-liquid” that may contain nicotine, as well as varying compositions of flavorings, propylene glycol, vegetable glycerin, and other ingredients. The liquid is heated into an aerosol that the user inhales.

ENDS may be manufactured to look like conventional cigarettes, cigars, or pipes. Some resemble pens or other everyday items. Larger devices, such as tank systems or mods, bear little or no resemblance to cigarettes.

On March 20, 2018, FDA issued an advance notice of proposed rulemaking to help determine how best to regulate flavors in tobacco products, including menthol. This action creates an opportunity for public comment as first announced in FDA's comprehensive plan for tobacco and nicotine regulation \(TobaccoProducts/NewsEvents/ucm568425.htm\) on the role of flavors in tobacco product use and use patterns.

Statistics about Electronic Nicotine Delivery System Use

- More than 2 million middle and high school students were current users of e-cigarettes in 2016.^{1,2}
- 11% of high school and 4.3% of middle school students were current users of e-cigarettes in 2016.¹
- E-cigarette use rose from 1.5% to 16.0% among high school students and from 0.6% to 5.3% among middle school students from 2011 to 2015.¹
- In 2013-2014, 81% of current youth e-cigarette users cited the availability of appealing flavors as the primary reason for use.³

FDA Regulation of Electronic Nicotine Delivery System

In 2016, FDA finalized a rule extending CTP's regulatory authority to cover all tobacco products, including electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS) that meet the definition of a tobacco product. FDA now regulates the manufacture, import, packaging, labeling, advertising, promotion, sale, and distribution of ENDS, including components and parts of ENDS but excluding accessories. Examples of components and parts of ENDS include:

- E-liquids
- A glass or plastic vial container of e-liquid
- Cartridges
- Atomizers
- Certain batteries
- Cartomizers and clearomizers
- Digital display or lights to adjust settings
- Tank systems
- Drip tips
- Flavorings for ENDS
- Programmable software

However, products marketed for therapeutic purposes (for example, marketed as a product to help people quit smoking) are regulated by the FDA through the Center for Drug Evaluation and Research (CDER). Report a Problem with a Tobacco Product or Potential Tobacco Product Violations

If you have experienced an unexpected health or safety issue with a specific tobacco product, you can report a problem \(/TobaccoProducts/PublicHealthScienceResearch/ucm377563.htm\) with any tobacco product, including vapes, to the FDA. Knowledge about adverse experiences can help the FDA identify health or safety issues beyond those normally associated with product use.

If you believe these products are being sold to minors, or you see another potential violation of the FD&C Act or FDA's tobacco regulations, report the potential violation \(/TobaccoProducts/GuidanceComplianceRegulatoryInformation/ucm330160.htm\).

You can read the adverse experience reports for tobacco products \(/TobaccoProducts/AboutCTP/ucm221165.htm\) to FDA in the FOIA Electronic Reading Room.

1. Consider using vapes with safety features such as firing button locks, vent holes, and protection against overcharging.

2. Keep your vape covered.
Don't let it come into contact with coins or loose batteries in your pocket.

3. Never charge your vape with a phone or tablet charger.
Always use the charger that came with it.

4. Don't charge your vape overnight or leave it charging unattended.

5. Replace the batteries if they get damaged or wet.
If your vape gets damaged and the batteries are not replaceable, contact the manufacturer.
