The Milwaukee Intensive Nurse Home Visiting Program is an intensive home visit based program which uses public health nurses as the provider of care to first time pregnant women and their children who reside in Zip codes 53204 and 53212. The outcomes of this program in other cities, that have used this research based delivery of service, are improved health, well being and self sufficiency of at- risk low- income parents and their children.

The MHD Center for Health Equity is expected to address health disparities in Milwaukee by working far "upstream" of most medical and even many standard public health interventions. The Center's expected outcomes include the development of a "dashboard" of health indicators in Milwaukee showing clear existing links to poverty, race, and other social and economic factors that influence health, internal coordination of MHD programming to focus on disparities, and increasing awareness and resolve among community leaders and the general public regarding health disparities in Milwaukee.
