The before and after pictures are two different locations. The letter stated for me to clean up the debris that was in front of my garage that was going into the ally I completed cleaned that up, swept everything up even used water to clean the concrete. I was hauling things away in my suv. I placed some of the branches inside of my fenced in yard. The letter said nothing about me not being able to have it there, they opened my fence and came inside of my yard my property. If I knew I couldn't place it there, to save some fire wood and to have more time to take off using my suv I wouldn't have had it there but it wasn't the issue at hand the before picture showed a different location and it should show the same area that was the issue and it would show that it was cleaned up and I should not be changed for what was inside of my fenced in yard.
