Notes on Comparators:

- Dane County is represented with two different titles. Dane County’s classification specification for Judicial Staff Attorney indicates that incumbents read and evaluate motions and briefs, perform legal research, prepare recommendations and reports. Judicial Staff Attorneys do not provide legal assistance or advice. Dane County utilizes both pay steps and longevity to progress incumbents through the listed pay range.
- The City of Kenosha has two classifications (Assistant City Attorney I and Assistant City Attorney II) and also utilizes pay steps. Progression to ACA II requires experience with the City of Kenosha.
- Waukesha County has both an Attorney and Senior Attorney classification without any clear career progression. Senior Attorneys are required to have comprehensive knowledge of Waukesha County Code, Rules of Order, and applicable rules of parliamentary procedure upon appointment to the title.
- The City of Madison, the State of Wisconsin, and the City of Green Bay all utilize pay steps (sometimes along with longevity increases) to progress incumbents through the listed pay range.
- All comparators require a Juris Doctorate and a license to practice law in the State of Wisconsin. Juris Doctorate is a graduate degree, typically requiring three years of additional professional education beyond a bachelor’s degree.

- The majority of comparators did not set a minimum qualification for years of experience at the entry level, similar to Milwaukee, but some set preferred experience at 1 to 2 years. The City of Racine and Fitchburg require a minimum of three years' experience in municipal law or equivalent civil law practice.

Analysis and Recommendation

A review of the job duties and responsibilities for the five Assistant City Attorney levels, along with the minimum qualifications at each level, show an established career path for incumbents. Achieving promotional criteria and promoting through the title pathway provides a long-term compensation incentive.

The ERI market data does not include the context of this career path. The comparison to other jurisdictions helps to provide this context with examples of similar title levels or the utilization of pay steps and longevity to progress pay to be competitive with the market.

The City of Milwaukee's current appointment and promotional pay practices allow for a 7% increase for promotion from ACA I to ACA II, or the new recruitment rate, whichever is higher. Promotions at the higher levels are allotted a 10% increase or the new minimum rate of the position, whichever is higher. For all titles, appointment may be at any rate in the pay range at the discretion of the City Attorney.

In further analysis of the pay data from other jurisdictions, the City of Milwaukee remains competitive at the high end of the pay scale. When the same data is considered based on recruitment rates, the City falls behind, second to lowest in recruitment in this comparison group. We recommend raising rates of pay in the entry levels of the career path to aid in recruitment and retention, and establishing minimum recruitment rates at all levels with flexibility in recruitment up to the maximum of the range.

Recommendations for Budget and Position Authority:

- 25 positions will be authorized at the Assistant City Attorney III level. Recruitment is recommended at the Assistant City Attorney I level with applicable promotion after under-fill to higher levels.
- 10 positions will be authorized at the Assistant City Attorney V level. This would allow for underfill at the Assistant City Attorney IV level and recruitment at higher levels if needed by the department.

Background

Chief Information Officer David Henke has requested a classification and market rate study for the Unified Call Center. DER staff have received up-to-date job descriptions and had discussions with David Henke, ITMD Policy and Administration Manager Rich Watt, and Unified Call Center Manager Ann-Elizabeth Shapera.

The Unified Call Center Representatives provide exceptional and accurate customer service for the City of Milwaukee. Since the creation of the center, these positions have used a variety of communication channels to handle a wide variety of contacts in a fast-paced environment.

In 2011, an employee with no call center experience could have been trained on-the-job to be a customer service representative. At that time, Representatives answered a desk phone and looked up information in a physical binder. Representatives chiefly addressed information and requests for DPW divisions. In contrast, Representatives now handle service and information requests for DPW, DNS, Treasurer's Office, Assessor's Office, City Clerk's Office - License

Division, Health Department, Elections Commission, and others. A UCC Representative navigates between four distinct, very-different applications for service request entry and information-request recording.

Since the creation of the Call Center, a UCC Representative’s level and complexity of work has evolved significantly. Today a Representative must:

- Possess the ability to perform online research by navigating multiple resources both on the UCC’s intranet and on the City’s website. Must be able to distinguishing rapidly between genuine search engine results and promoted, AI-generated, or false results.
- Use both desktop telephones and software telephones and must have fundamental familiarity with using voice-over-internet-protocol (VOIP) phone technology.
- Be able to memorize large volumes of City operations information.
- Use online systems to ensure all customer inquiries and service requests are logged and routed properly.
- Adapt quickly to frequent, rapid changes in City information, activities, programs and policies.

When call volume lowers, a Representative must take the initiative to review resources to keep current. In order to ensure this knowledge, Representatives must acknowledge that they have received the frequent email messages containing information updates, requests for additional specific interaction information, and corrections from the Call Center’s leadership staff.

Additionally, caller demeanor has degraded vastly since this position's creation. Representatives are expected to maintain composure, use detachment, and exercise boundaries far more frequently in handling a large volume of abusive calls.

The Unified Call Center has experienced difficulty recruiting and retaining employees. Out of the most recent recruitments only three UCC Representative have been hired (one of whom was terminated during probation). More than forty applicants declined the job due to the low rate of pay. The UCC also cannot attract contracted employees from Temporary Agencies to supplement budgeted positions, as the position does not offer market competitive wages.

Labor Market Rate Comparisons

For positions in this report comparisons were made to the labor market using the Economic Research Institute (ERI), a salary survey to which DER subscribes. Staff reviewed labor market data for Southeastern, WI. The data shown below represents competitive rates of pay for titles comparable to the classifications listed above.

It is apparent from this comparison data that the rates of pay for the Unified Call Center positions are quite a bit below competitive market pay rates. The rates proposed in this job evaluation study will assist in the UCC in achieving the staffing levels needed.

Background

The Employees' Retirement System has requested a study and reevaluation on certain department titles that were included in the citywide Business Operations report that was submitted and approved at in September of 2022. The department expressed concern with classification compression that resulted from the study. This compression now exists in titles that previously had distinct career levels or pathways.

ERS has also requested the study of titles within their Membership Services division that share similar duties and responsibilities, scope, and knowledge as titles in the Department of Employee Relations (DER) Medical Benefits section. The titles in DER were included in the citywide Business Operations report.

Job Descriptions were provided to DER for the study and discussions were held with Jerry Allen, Executive Director - Employees' Retirement System and Melody Johnson, Deputy Director - Employees' Retirement System. Supervisory and Manager titles were added later to address compression.

In the 2022 reports for Business Operations positions, Disability Specialist-Senior and Pension Specialist-Senior were placed into pay range 2JX with a recruitment rate of $71,341. This placement was based on the scope of the study, which was focused on correcting pay rates to align with market and looked at large groups of titles together. A recruitment rate of $71,341 in pay range 2JX is also shared with the Human Resources Analyst-Senior and Budget and Fiscal Policy Analyst II. Both of these classifications have minimum requirements that include a Bachelor's degree in a focus related to the duties and responsibilities of the position plus two years of experience. This is also appropriate for the Pension Specialist – Senior, but the Disability Specialist – Senior requires one more year of experience, making it three years total experience with a Bachelor's degree to meet the minimum requirements for the position.

We recommend placing the Disability Specialist -Senior title into pay range 2KX with a recruitment rate of $76,030, which is the same pay range and recruitment rate for the Human Resources Representative and Budget and Fiscal Policy Analyst III. These positions both have minimum requirements that include a Bachelor's degree in a focus related to the duties and responsibilities of the position plus three years of experience.

The pay ranges and rates of pay for the Disability Specialist, Disability Specialist – Lead, and Retirement Plan Manager were adjusted, also by one pay range to prevent compression.

Note: Residents receive a rate that is 3% higher.

Background

The Milwaukee Health Department (MHD) has requested a study of leadership titles in the Birth Outcomes Made Better (BOMB) Doula program after the implementation of the Health Department Leadership study. Job descriptions were provided and discussions were held with Lindsey O'Connor, Health Human Resources Administrator; Erica Olivier, Deputy Commissioner of Community Health; and Christina Drain, Doula Program Manager.

The Doula Program focuses on expectant mothers in the City of Milwaukee—especially within high-need areas, such as the 53206 zip code. The goal of the program is to provide physical and emotional support and advocacy for women and their partners during and after the birthing process.

Duties & Responsibilities

The Doula Program Manager engages Doula staff and clients around concepts of “mothering the mother” with a focus on maternal and child health and improving birth outcomes. In conjunction with the division director, the Doula Program Manager creates an outreach strategy targeting diverse and non-traditional locations to strengthen and increase programmatic reach. The Doula Program Manager also provides overall staff management and supervision with support from the Doula Program Coordinator on staff training, certification, case and outreach assignments, and program promotion.

Minimum qualifications include a Bachelor's degree in nursing, public health, social work, community health or a related field from an accredited college or university, and three years of related experience and/or training in public health community outreach, program development, and/or other community organizing related to maternal and child health, including one year of supervisory experience.

The Doula Manager must also achieve a Certified Doula status within one year of appointment, and throughout employment; passing probation is contingent upon successfully fulfilling this requirement.

The Doula Senior is responsible for high-level coordination of city and community-based doula services. The Coordinator provides recruitment, training, and onboarding of doulas and serves as a lead worker and professional resource for the doula team. The Coordinator manages referral disbursement, data entry of referrals, maintenance of client records, and day-to-day operations to support the Doula Program Manager and team, and also provides outreach and education/training opportunities in the City of Milwaukee.

Minimum qualifications include a Bachelor's degree in public health, social work, community health, or related field, and two years of supervisory, lead worker or program coordination experience with moms and babies, maternal and child health, labor and delivery, doula/birth work, and/or public health.

The Doula Senior must also achieve both a Certified Doula and Certified Lactation Counselor® (CLC) status within one year of appointment, and throughout employment; passing probation is contingent upon successfully fulfilling this requirement.

Both the Doula Program Manager and the Doula Senior are not meant to maintain a caseload of clients but actively participate in on-call hours in order to meet client needs, including working evenings and weekends based upon the triage of labor and delivery coverage amongst the Doula team members.

Analysis and Recommendation

Since the Health Department Leadership study, the Doula program has been evaluated and the positions' duties along with them. The Doula Coordinator performs both lead worker duties and provides direct support to the Doula Program Manager. We recommend reclassifying the Doula Program Coordinator in pay range 2GN with a recruitment rate of $69,394 to the title Doula Senior in pay range 2KN with a recruitment rate of $81,845.

Similarly, our recommendation is based on the new recommended classification of the Doula Senior and also on the evaluation of the title for placement among peer Program Managers in the Health Leadership report. We recommend placing the Doula Program Manager in pay range 1HX with a recruitment rate of $93,160.

Job Evaluation Report

Civil Service Commission Meeting: July 25, 2023

This is the second of two city-wide job study reports that address the market rates of pay, alignment, and career structures for the remaining skilled craft, service, maintenance and related classifications across city government. The recommendations in this report specifically deal with trades, skilled crafts, and related classifications. Furthermore, the recommendations have been sent in separate reports to the City Service Commission and the Fire and Police Commission.

The analysis and recommendation process included a review of a position's duties and responsibilities, impact and accountability, relationship responsibilities, working conditions, as well as minimum education and experience required. This process also compared classifications' rate of pay to the cost of labor in southeastern Wisconsin. Market data was sourced from ERI, a salary survey to which Employee Relations subscribes, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, MRA, as well as the prevailing wage for Milwaukee County. The City of Milwaukee needs to ensure that we pay the industry standard and this report further recommends that these rates are assessed and maintained yearly to avoid falling behind in market rates again.

The necessity to study these positions is long overdue as there are documented recruitment and retention difficulties, hemorrhaging contractor costs, and the looming impact on services offered to the constituents of the City of Milwaukee. There are high vacancy rates in these positions city-wide, but most notably would be in the Milwaukee Water Works, the Department of Public Works – Operations, and the Department of Public Works – Infrastructure. The incumbents of these areas work hard and take pride in their work to provide services to the constituents of the City of Milwaukee, but the vacancies are making it near impossible to keep up.

Various factors have led to this point – the loss of labor unions that maintained a market rate consistently, aging equipment that the city is maintaining or replacing, and even residual implications from COVID-19. Due to the City's precarious position in regards to the lack of staff to fulfill services expected by constituents, these two reports are essential to retain our staff and give the departments the ability to recruit before the year end to ensure there isn't a stoppage in services. On top of that, there is a nationwide labor shortage in trade professions that can be attributed to several factors<sup>1</sup>:

- Changing Perceptions: During the past couple of generations, there has been a cultural shift that placed greater emphasis on obtaining a college education and pursuing professional, office jobs. As a result, fewer individuals have considered trade professions as a viable career option. This shift led to a decrease in the number of people entering trade schools or apprenticeship programs.
- Aging Workforce: Many skilled trade professionals belong to an older generation, and a significant portion of them are reaching retirement age. As they retire, there is a shortage of experienced workers to fill their positions. This situation is further exacerbated by the lack of the younger generations entering these trades to replace the outgoing workforce.
- Lack of Training and Education: The reduced focus on trade professions in educational institutions has resulted in limited training and education opportunities for individuals interested in these fields. Vocational programs and trade schools have seen a decline in enrollment, leading to a smaller pool of skilled workers. Not only that, vocational education programs were cut back generations ago, in a belief that these programs tracked studies into dead-end jobs. Furthermore, employers want candidates who already have the skills, as opposed to in the past where employees would have gotten that through on-the-job training.

- Economic Factors: Economic fluctuations have impacted the demand for trade professions. The 2008 recession caused the commercial construction industry to decline rapidly. Companies went under and laid off hundreds of thousands of skilled workers. Even including the progress made in recovery over the years, there is still the persistence of a shortage of skilled workers in the United States. As a result, individuals are showing residual apprehension in pursuing trade professions due to the perceived instability.

To address the labor shortage in trade professions, efforts are being made to promote the value and benefits of these careers, improve training and educational opportunities, and change the perception surrounding trade professions. This includes initiatives such as apprenticeship programs, partnerships between educational institutions and industry, and campaigns to raise awareness about the opportunities and financial benefits available in trade professions.

Although unemployment as a whole is down to 3.6% according to BLS.gov, the National Association of Business Economics (NABE) revealed that over half (57%) of the survey respondents in 2021 stated there was a shortage of skilled workers in their 4th quarter report. According to the Associated General Contractors of America, even with the construction boom during COVID-19 and despite the challenges of project delays due to the supply chain and rise in material cost 'contractors report as much difficulty filling positions as they experienced before the pandemic. 89% of firms that are seeking to fill hourly craft positions report having a hard time doing so and 86% of firms seeking to fill salary positions are also having a hard time hiring.'<sup>2</sup> According to a proprietary model developed by Associated Builders and Contractors, "the construction industry will need to attract an estimated 546,000 additional workers on top of the normal pace of hiring in 2023 to meet the demand for labor... With nearly 1 in 4 construction workers older than 55, retirements will continue to whittle away at the construction workforce... The number of construction laborers, the most entry-level occupational title, has accounted for nearly 4 out of every 10 new construction workers since 2012. Meanwhile, the number of skilled workers has grown at a much slower pace or, in the case of certain occupations like carpenter, declined."<sup>3</sup> In the SHRM article by Dana Wilkie<sup>1</sup>, examples were used from Wisconsin where schools in Janesville are creating programs and specialized classes to prepare kids with the type of education they would want to walk into. Furthermore " 'businesses are certainly responding to the labor need... one way is with paid apprenticeship programs. Employers are reaching out to high schools and community colleges to recruit students for one-to-two-year, on-the-job training programs. These are paid positions and teach workers exactly the skills that the company needs for them to fill vacancies.' " There is now a massive push to promote apprenticeships and now is the time for the City to further establish career paths for current and future employees. This is so that the City will be able to provide a lucrative career for our largest workforce, but also so that we ensure that we can continue to carry forward the institutionalized knowledge incumbents possess.

For the trade professions, the Department of Employee Relations recommendations reflect 94.5% of the prevailing wage for those titles. This is so that the City of Milwaukee can attract candidates and retain our talent in a highly competitive market. Many of the contractors that the City of Milwaukee uses pay their employees prevailing wage, and those costs and their employee's fringe benefits are being passed onto us while also paying overhead. That money would be better served investing in our own employees so that we can not only fix but maintain our buildings, streets, and bridges. While doing this, DER Compensation is recommending the creation of title series that will provide the following flexibility:

- Departments will have the ability to hire at any level based on department needs.
- Departments will have the ability to use a title as a secondary title that is officially classified so employees who work in that capacity are compensated appropriately.

- Departments will be able to provide career paths for their employees.

The Department of Employee Relations Compensation, Staffing, and the various affected Departments will work closely together to establish minimum qualifications, where necessary, for the recommended new positions. This report will recommend that incumbents impacted by a newly created career path are placed at the first step and will then be evaluated and placed at their appropriate level within the title series. Then a matrix will be implemented to ensure incumbents are placed appropriately within their new pay ranges. A timeline for these implementations is attached to this report’s Common Council File number as an addendum.

The goal of this report and its recommendations is to ensure that the City of Milwaukee becomes the preferred employer in the City of Milwaukee and is no longer a training ground for southeastern Wisconsin.

Footnotes for these titles will remain the same unless footnoted special assignment rates were considered and rolled into the title’s new recruitment rates. We are also recommending that titles classified as Skilled Crafts in pay ranges 7AN – 7MN may be authorized at any rate in the pay range with the approval of the Department of Employee Relations as well as potential incentives for attaining and maintaining specific certifications with DER approval.

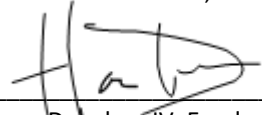

Extensive conversations were held with department heads, HR staff, managers, supervisors, and questionnaires were sent out to various employees in each title covered in these two reports. DER Compensation would like to take this time to thank the countless employees that took the time and effort to assist in these monumental reports that will get the City back on track to being the preferred employer within the City of Milwaukee.
