Background

Throughout 2021, 2022, 2023, and 2024 Employee Relations produced numerous cost-of-labor and classification job evaluation studies to improve the city's ability to recruit and retain talent across all city departments. Recommendations have been presented for titles in the following areas:

- Parking Operations and Enforcement
- Accounting/Budget/Finance/Pension Investment
- Human Resources, Safety, and Payroll
- Emergency Communications
- Property Appraisal
- Social Workers and Fatherhood Involvement Specialists
- Health Strategists and Project Coordinators
- Nurses, Doulas, and Disease Intervention Specialists
- Consumer Environmental and Home Environmental Inspectors

- Code Enforcement and Trades Inspectors
- Legal Assistants, Paralegals and Attorneys
- Living Wage recommendations
- Call Center
- Laboratory
- Information Technology
- Election Workers
- Marketing and Communications
- Architects, Engineers, Technicians, and Planners
- Librarians, Library Technicians, and Library Circulation

The most extensive studies to date -- the Labor, Trades, and Inspection job evaluation reports – were approved by policy makers in July of 2023. These reports addressed the pay for all laboring, trades, inspection and related supervisor positions in the Public Works, Port Milwaukee, Neighborhood Services, Library, Fire, and Police departments. The analysis and recommendation process included a review of a position's responsibilities and requirements; and also compared classifications' pay rates to the cost of labor in southeastern Wisconsin. Another job evaluation report for consideration by policy makers at this Finance and Personnel Committee includes market pay recommendations for information technology positions throughout all City departments. These recommendations are meant to ensure that we pay the industry standard in order to successfully recruit and retain employees.

As a next step, Employee Relations is putting forth this job evaluation study to address the market rates of pay and classification level of leadership positions across city government. These recommendations have been proposed for consideration by the City Service Commission and the Fire and Police Commission for the departments under their purview.

Analysis Process, Recommendations and Implementation

The job evaluation analysis and recommendation process included a review of a position's duties and responsibilities, impact and accountability, relationship responsibilities, working conditions, as well as minimum education and experience required. This process also compared a classification's pay rate to the cost of labor in southeastern Wisconsin, including a recent 'Executive Wage Study Report from Wisconsin's second largest municipality, Madison. In addition, market data was collected by DER staff and Legislative Reference Bureau staff; sourced from ERI, a salary survey to which Employee Relations subscribes; the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and MRA. The recommendations for leadership positions are presented in the chart at the beginning of this report. As with all job evaluation studies, these recommendations are meant to ensure that we pay the industry standard in order to successfully recruit and retain employees.

This job evaluation report addresses the rates of pay for leadership positions in general city departments; and also for the Police department, Fire department and the Department of Emergency Communications. As these positions have not been fully studied for classification for many years, their duties and responsibilities have evolved over the years. As such, these recommendations will be considered as reallocations into their appropriate pay range due to the evolved duties. Per the Salary Ordinance, Part II, Section 5: Promotions and Special Pay Practices—the pay for incumbents of these positions shall be at the rate of pay 10% above the rate of pay prior to the promotion, or the new minimum rate for the title, whichever is greatest.
