Vacant lot marketing

Goal:

- Return vacant lots to productive uses that add value to the neighborhood
 - Responsible owner/tenant
 - Permitted land use
 - High-quality design for new construction

Challenges:

- Continuing influx of tax-foreclosed improved properties
- Demolition creating 500 more vacant lots
- Lots most prevalent in neighborhoods with lower rates of owner-occupancy and housing values

Target markets for lot sales

- New housing construction
 - Single & multi-family
 - Individuals and developers
- Owner-occupants
 - Side lot sales
- Urban agriculture
 - Community gardens

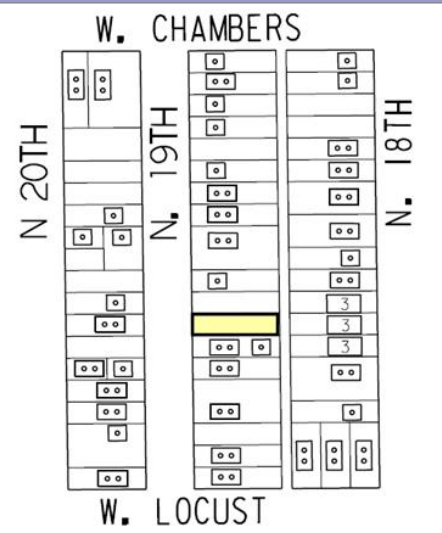

Sales for in-fill housing

- In-fill lots
 - 444 listed for sale
 - Major customers: Habitat for Humanity, Housing Authority, supportive housing developers
 - 29 sold since 1/1/2013
- Marketing strategies
 - Sites listed and mapped on DCD web site
 - New home catalog provides design guidance
 - Pre-approved models for new homes on city lots

Side Yard Expansion

Do you have a City-owned vacant lot next to your home?
If so, you may be able to buy the lot and combine it with your property for added yard space.
Contact us to see if a lot is available.

The sale of a vacant lot to an adjoining owner is possible if:

- Adjoining owner is an owner-occupant of their home
- Adjoining owner is in good standing with the City of Milwaukee, current on property taxes and has no outstanding code violations
- Vacant lot has no current development proposals or lacks future development potential
- Local Alderperson approves the sale

If a City-owned vacant lot is bordered by two qualified buyers, the City may divide the lot resulting in equal sized lots for each adjoining owner.

1-Lawn Expansion 2-Trees, Shrubs 3-Fence
