A photograph of a residential street. In the foreground, there is a wide, light-colored gravel or dirt area that appears to be a driveway or a construction site. To the left, there is a blue metal structure and some orange traffic cones. In the background, there are several houses, including a prominent two-story house with a red roof and white siding. A white car is parked on the street to the right. The sky is clear and blue.

The orange cones are there to show where the guests
are to park their cars

On the Street, about 20 ft north of the south entrance into the driving

At this point, guests are parking on driving, stone and have to drive up a small hill on the grass to park. We could park someone to the right but the hill is a bit hard to drive up.

The two smaller cars in the middle are our cars.
