Dear Linda and Jim,

I agree with Kate. I live in the upper unit next to Georgia. When I look out my window, I do not see any knots in the painted wood. I see no reason for my neighbor, Georgia, to go through the trouble and expense of replacing her boards.

Kind regards,

Good morning: I received a letter relating to a Certificate of Appropriateness to reside the east wall of my neighbor's home with knotty cedar. My neighbor is Georgia Odie. I own 1/3 of the property immediately to the east, at 203 W. Lloyd St.

I spoke with Tim Askin of the Historic Preservation staff who answered all my questions.

Georgia's son is a house painter who painted a sample of the wood siding in question, and the knots are not visible at all. Given that the home has been waiting on siding, and now painting, and that many homes in the neighborhood range in condition, it is in my best interest, and Georgia's, to allow her to leave that siding up and
